London, UK

A leading higher education institution that specialises in the delivery and management of healthcare.

Transforming lives through Health Sciences

Health Sciences University (HSU) is a specialist university delivering high quality education, research, clinical and consultancy services in allied health, sport and exercise, rehabilitation and social science disciplines.

Its newly established Health Business School will play a pivotal role in equipping future healthcare leaders and professionals with the expertise and skills required by healthcare systems and other related employers.

What makes HSU special?

Located in the heart of London close to iconic landmarks.

Exceptional student support from a caring community of staff.

An inclusive learning environment home to students from diverse backgrounds.

Bespoke postgraduate programme delivered by highly regarded academics.

Study and live in the world's best student city

The Health Business School is located in central London, in the vibrant Borough High Street area in Southwark.

London is a unique global business, political, cultural and social centre and is consistently ranked as the best city in the world for students. Health Business School students are ideally situated to tap into London's business community, network with potential employers, learn from the experiences of leading global experts through our guest lecture series and experience the exceptional social and cultural opportunities the city has to offer.

Join a community that cares

Health Sciences University puts people and well-being at the heart of everything they do. They aim to deliver a positive student experience and good graduate outcomes through competence, care and compassion.
